Malaysian Healthy Plate

Is Your Meal Balanced?

Meat the healthy plate

Step 1: Imagine the three parts of a plate

Step 2: Fill Half Your Plate with Vegetables and Fruits

Simple Ways to Reach Your Daily Vegetable & Fruit Intake:

Breakfast
Sandwich with lettuce, cucumber and tomato (1 serving of vegetables)

Lunch
Half a cup of stir-fried spinach and a slice of papaya (1 serving of vegetables and 1 serving of fruit)

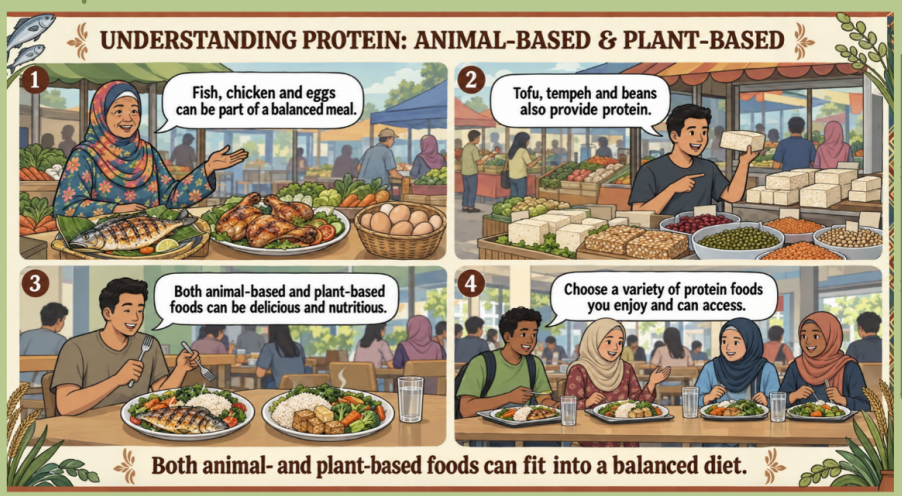

Dinner
Half a cup of mixed cooked vegetables (1 serving of vegetables)

Snack
Half a medium-size guava (1 serving of fruit)

Step 3: Fill Quarter with Protein-Rich Foods

Simple Ways to Include Protein in Your Meals

Breakfast:
Soybean milk with a wholegrain egg sandwich

Lunch:
Add chickpeas to beef stew

Dinner:
Stir-fry shrimp with tofu

Nourish Your Body
Heal The Planet

NourishUM

Malaysian Healthy Plate

Step 4: Fill a quarter of your plate with carbohydrates

Simple Meal Ideas Using Whole Grains

Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner
Wholegrain oat cereal with fruits	Brown rice with ikan bakar (griled fish) and ulam	Wholegrain bread with jam
Wholemeal tuna sandwich		Wholewheat mee goreng with seafood and vegetables

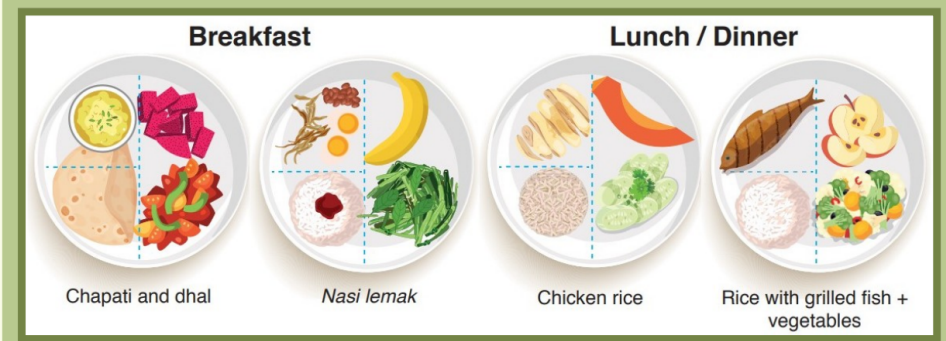

Step 5: Stay Hydrated with Healthy Beverages

Better Beverage Choices:

Plain water – Always the best option	Herbal teas or infused water – A refreshing altenative	Low-fat milk or soybean milk – provide protein and calcium

Healthy Plate in Action: Meal Examples

- Using a round plate about the size of a standard dinner plate (roughly the width of two adult hands placed side by side)
- Simple ways to apply the Quarter-Quarter-Half concept in daily meals

Source: HE-AL Vol 6: Change Mindset to Prevent Diet-Related Diseases